Poverty relief - Africa (edit program)
Evidence was extracted from 165 studies, covering 56 cash transfer programmes in low- and middle-income countries... There is strong evidence that cash transfers are associated with reductions in monetary poverty. (source)

Cash transfers have the strongest track record we've seen for a non-health intervention, and are a priority program of ours. (source)

Cash transfers are more cost effective than vouchers which are more cost effective than in-kind food assistance. (source)

Cash transfers are one of the more thoroughly researched forms of development intervention. (source)
